Dear Neighbor,

The global pandemic has tested all of us—as individuals, as community members, as a commonwealth and as a nation.

Though Pennsylvania was one of the first and hardest hit states by the virus, we have been able to avoid the dramatic spikes other states have experienced after reopening by working collectively to follow the balanced, reasoned and comprehensive policies our commonwealth has adopted.

All of that said, the story of COVID-19 in Pennsylvania is far from finished. We must continue following social distancing guidelines and wearing our masks.

The novel coronavirus continues to impact every aspect of our lives.

The pandemic has hurt many of us economically. Some of us are struggling to feed our families, and many small businesses – the backbone of our community – are in dire straits.

Equally serious is the psychosocial impact on families and individuals. The emotional toll of the pandemic is not to be underestimated.

But my office has been working to support individuals and families struggling with economic and personal hardships, providing information, contacts and guidance. We have continually offered support for those needing help with navigating the process of applying for Unemployment Compensation (UC) and Pandemic Unemployment Assistance (PUA).

Our local businesses will continue to need support, and I am committed to working daily to see that they get the help needed to survive in this new economic climate. All levels of government are offering grant and loan programs to support our businesses as they get back on their feet, and we are happy to assist in applying for them.

As a former social worker, I am determined to ensure that the safety net for individuals and families stays in place throughout this global ordeal, however long it lasts.

This virus has strained our society and our economy like nothing before. There is much more to be done, but I know we will get through this because we have already accomplished so much together and demonstrated the fundamental strength of our society and commitment to ourselves and our neighbors.

Sincerely,

Rep. Kristine Howard

Legislative Update

My resolution, HR 952, would create a task force to study remote learning

This spring, schools were thrust into a system of remote learning to protect the health of students and teachers. Unfortunately, schools didn't have the time for the necessary planning to ensure effective teaching for a diverse range of students of varying means, abilities and circumstances.

It is critical that our schools follow best practices in remote learning situations, but unfortunately, there has been little research done to identify what those would be. My goal for this task force is to remedy this gap in our knowledge. It would do this by conducting a study over the next year, which would lead to the creation of a report identifying these best practices and detailing critical factors and barriers to successful implementation of remote learning.

The 167th District includes Malvern Borough and the townships of Charlestown, Easttown, East Whiteland, West Pikeland, West Whiteland and Willistown.

PANDEMIC RESOURCES

Since we're no longer living in "usual" times, the rest of this pamphlet will differ from the usual legislative newsletter. It is intended to provide an easy reference for some of the more commonly needed resources that are available to help everybody navigate this pandemic. If you need help with these or any other issues, please contact my office.

Pennsylvania's Response to the COVID-19 Pandemic:

UNEMPLOYMENT

It's not uncommon to experience delays in navigating public resources, as the commonwealth and the U.S. are experiencing overwhelming levels of demand. Since mid-March, more than 2 million Pennsylvanians have filed for unemployment benefits.

There are two unemployment programs available: traditional Unemployment Compensation (UC) and Pandemic Unemployment Assistance (PUA). UC covers most people, while PUA is a new program for self-employed, 'gig' and contract workers, as well as many others that may not have qualified for traditional unemployment.

Information and applications for both programs are at www.uc.pa.gov.

COOLING AND HEATING YOUR HOME

The Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) Recovery Crisis Program runs through August 31 or until all budgeted funding is expended. More information about the LIHEAP Recovery Crisis Program, including income limits, can be found at www.dhs.pa.gov or by calling 1-877-395-8930.

HELP FOR BUSINESS OWNERS

COVID-19 RELIEF SMALL BUSINESS ASSISTANCE GRANT PROGRAM

Decisive Action Saved Lives and Flattened the Curve

PA ED. DEPT. OUTLINES SCHOOL GUIDELINES, REQUIREMENTS FOR PANDEMIC

Pennsylvania Department of Health Secretary Dr. Rachel Levine and Education Secretary Pedro Rivera outlined updated guidance to help Pre-K to 12 schools prepare to reopen and safely educate students. Each school entity will determine if classes resume in person at school buildings, remotely or a combination of both options.

In instances when someone from a school tests positive, state public health staff will immediately assist the school with risk assessment, isolation recommendations, and other infection control assistance.

www.education.pa.gov provides a full list of best practices for schools to consider before the start of in-person classes.
