New District map with municipalities and precincts

In February, the Legislative Reapportionment Commission voted on the final maps for the new boundaries of the state House and Senate districts. The lines get redrawn every 10 years after the Census to redistribute population in an even manner. These maps were then certified by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

The new 161st Legislative District contains:

- Aston Township
- Brookhaven Borough
- Chester Township
- Part of Middletown Township
- Nether Providence Township
- Part of Ridley Township
- Rose Valley Borough
- Upland Borough

The following communities will no longer be in the 161st after November:

- Rutledge Borough
- Springfield Township
- Swarthmore Borough

I will continue to provide services for the residents of Rutledge Borough, Springfield Township and Swarthmore Borough until the end of the current legislative session on Nov. 30, 2022. I look forward to continuing to meet residents in the municipalities that have joined the 161st District!

State budget update

The Legislature went past the budget deadline this year but the final agreement was worth waiting for. The 2022-2023 budget includes a historic investment in Pennsylvania's public schools, including a $44.3M increase for Delco's public schools and a $15.5M increase for our local school districts. Seniors and people with disabilities who receive the Property Tax/Rent Rebate will receive an extra payment equal to

70% of their usual payment (you don't have to take any extra steps to get this extra payment). The budget reduces the state's corporate tax rate to benefit local businesses and makes a $2 billion investment in the state's Rainy Day fund. To keep our kids safe, there are new investments in the School Safety and Security Committee for mental health grants and physical safety grants. Our public library systems will see an $11M increase. The Delaware County Health Department will see critical funding. There are historic levels of funding for environmental conservation to reduce maintenance backlogs in our state parks, preserve farmland, improve the quality of our rivers and clean up abandoned mines. Best of all, this budget was made possible without any tax increases. I was proud to cast a yes vote this year.

Legislation to ensure equitable access to contraceptives

This spring, I re-introduced legislation that would expand and protect access to contraceptives. After the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision overturning Roe v. Wade, this bill is more important than ever.

Here's the background: during the summer of 2020, a U.S. Supreme Court decision allowed virtually any employer to opt out of the Affordable Care Act mandate to provide contraceptive coverage if they object to birth control on religious or moral grounds. That ruling endangers the health and economic security of at least 2.5 million women in Pennsylvania who depend on this coverage for access to affordable, effective contraceptives.

House Bill 2454 would protect access to this important form of health care by requiring employers and insurers in Pennsylvania to provide coverage for contraception. The medication that we are talking about is used for birth control, but it is also medication that treats many other medical conditions like endometriosis and polycystic ovary syndrome. This medication is essential for the women who take it, and we must protect access.

Abortion Access in PA

Late last month, the U.S. Supreme Court decided to overturn the landmark Roe v. Wade case and 50 years of legal precedent. The Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization decision is an attack on reproductive rights. While it is disappointing, it is not unexpected, and like many of the neighbors I have heard from, I am upset about it.

Abortion access now becomes an issue left to the states, and the state legislature will be the place where we fight to protect it. Twenty-six states have plans to ban or restrict abortion, and some of these bans and restrictions have already begun, including in neighboring states like Ohio and West Virginia, whose residents are likely to come to Pennsylvania for care.

Abortion is still safe and legal in Pennsylvania today, but that could change under the next Governor and Legislature. Governor Wolf has promised to veto any anti-choice legislation that lands on his desk, but his term ends at the end of 2022. Because Governor Wolf has vetoed every abortion ban that reached his desk, there is a new strategy from the Republican leadership in Harrisburg to do an end-run around the Governor.

During late-night votes on the last voting session day in July, the state House and Senate passed a proposed constitutional amendment, Senate Bill 106, which would limit abortion rights in Pennsylvania. Constitutional amendments cannot be vetoed by the Governor. In order for them to become law, the General Assembly needs to pass identical language in two consecutive legislative sessions and then they will go on the ballot. Because Senate Bill 106 has now passed once, it could be considered and passed again in early 2023 and wind up on the ballot by the May 2023 primary election.

I have fought every abortion ban since I got to Harrisburg, and I will continue to do all I can to fight in Harrisburg to keep reproductive health care accessible and affordable. If you need more information about access to abortion care in Pennsylvania, visit www.pahouse.com/abortionaccess.

Legislative efforts to fight Inflation and Price Gouging

Many families in Delco are struggling with skyrocketing prices for gas, groceries, and many other household goods that we rely on. Companies that are raising prices for things like chicken and gasoline are using inflation as an excuse to pad their record profits. So, I have joined my colleagues in co-sponsoring two bills that would make a difference to our pocketbooks by addressing corporate greed. The Stop Price Fixing Act – House Bill 2641 – would enhance the Attorney General's ability to prosecute individuals and businesses that are artificially raising prices and taking advantage of Pennsylvanians. The End Gas Price Gouging Act – House Bill 2697 – would prevent gas companies from changing gas prices more than once in a 24-hour period and crack down on sharp price increases. I support both of these bills and hope they move this session.

Supporting those who keep us safe

I met with the PA Professional Fire Fighters to discuss the needs of first responders in PA.

It was an honor and privilege to present Brookhaven Police Chief Michael Vice, Brookhaven Council President Terry Heller and Brookhaven Mayor Denise Leslie with grant funding to support the police accreditation process that the Brookhaven Department is pursuing.

Nether Providence Police Chief David Splain joined state Sen. John Kane and me during our Shredding and Prescription Drug take-back event. More than 400 cars joined us, and we were able to gather a total of 136 pounds of unneeded medications.

I stopped by the Folsom Fire Company to recognize Chief Joe Carollo on his recent retirement. Joe served as chief of the Folsom Fire Company for 25 years.

I visited with the Chester Township Fire Company. Chester Township is being added to the 161st District under the new legislative redistricting maps.

Congratulations to Brookhaven, South Media and Middletown fire companies. All three departments are celebrating their 100th anniversary this year and I got to be part of their celebrations!
